Five students will earn the opportunity to present their research projects at SAS Forum International. The student ambassadors will meet with business leaders and specialists from every industry and sector, as well as SAS experts to discuss real business challenges and solutions.

During the past three years, the student presentations have proven to be extremely popular with SAS customers, and many of the student ambassadors received job offers as a result of attending. The skills gained as SAS experts to discuss

If you:
• Are in the process of writing a final thesis or PhD in which SAS plays a major role
• Think your research project should be shared with an international business audience
• Feel confident in presenting in English to an international business audience

Then send us:
1. Your curriculum vitae
2. An abstract of your research project
3. A copy of your student identification card
4. A cover letter in which you explain why you should be selected as one of the 5 student ambassadors
5. An essay answering the following questions:
   • When will you finish your degree?
   • How did you first encounter SAS?
   • Why do you use SAS, rather than another type of software?
   • Why is SAS Forum International of interest to you?

Applications must be complete in order to be considered and must also be received with a post-mark date no later than 31 December 2004.

Please e-mail your application to: nina.hanke@eur.sas.com

We hope to see you at SAS Forum International 2005 in Lisbon!
